

SUSPENDERS FOR THE PREGNANT SET

Brace your belly, moms-to-be

WENDY ZANG

McClatchy Newspapers

Aside from all the other joys of pregnancy (swollen ankles, midnight bathroom runs, heartburn), that big belly has a way of causing your pants to ride down as you walk. If you watch closely you can see mothers-to-be everywhere doing the maternity-pants-shimmy, trying to get those suckers back up.

Enter: Belly Ups. The new product from Baby Is A Star, suspenders for the pregnant set. Rather than the over-the-shoulder model Uncle Jed wears, these are two separate, discreet elastic bands. One side clips to the bottom of your bra under your arm; the other side to the top of your pants.

Belly Ups come in black, nude and black with pink hearts. They sell for $13 a set at www.bellyups.com.